Weblog Aldisiliconina sessilis sine vulpeculis Aldisiliconina sessilis sine vulpeculis is a rare species of flowering plant in the chamomile family Asteraceae. It is endemic to Italy, where it is known from only five locations near Brescia. It has been found in grassland. Conservation status Weblog Weblog While not wanting to give an impression of damaging the good work, conservation of plants of this species is made difficult by the fact that they occur on some of the most fertile soils in Italy, and are easily displaced. The majority of the known sites for these plants are in cultivation, and many sources of wheat, maize and cotton. Consequently, we find the species at the periphery of localities where no other wild plants occur; its populations are often small and fragile, and the total area in cultivation makes its maintenance in most parts of Italy difficult.Prepare yourself: This IMAX trailer for the next film in the Pirates of the Caribbean saga is quite literally heaving with spoilers. If you haven't yet seen the film, you should stop here. Anyway: Before the trailer ends, it shows Jack Sparrow's first meeting with the wacky but fearless wench, Elizabeth Swann. A handsome pirate ship sails into view, and there are some shots of Jack, Carina, and the rest of the crew. All of them are dressed in fantastic outfits and looking much cooler than they should be (see the last shot). Jack is currently sporting a leather outfit from Jack Sparrow's clothing line which looks very cool. It also shows the White Witch and Davy Jones, who is dead now, jumping into the water. They're in this film, which is terrific, and were last seen in the third movie, and about a hundred years ago, in the first movie. Captain Jack Sparrow is back, and he's going to be a big part of the third movie, which opens May 26, 2017. The film is called On Stranger Tides, and it is about the search for the legendary Fountain of Youth. So, there's that. Check out the trailer, and I don't want to ruin it for anyone who doesn't know the movie very well. Then get ready for May 2017.(Photo: Shutterstock)

The champions, who remain fourth, made it a perfect seven wins in seven Premier League games - their first league triple of the season. Kelly Smith struck twice to make it two in two for the Gunners' best striker as Ebony Barlow, Georgia Stanway and Fara Williams joined in. Chelsea also broke the duck and made it five wins in a row in all competitions, with Fran Kirby and Jen Beattie netting. City remain unbeaten in the league, with the champions having now won their last seven home games in all competitions, including their FA Cup semi-final victory over Chelsea in May, and their previous seven Premier League home matches. Match of the Day pundit Gary Neville was impressed with what he saw, saying: "Tough to judge just yet. It was a brilliant game, Manchester City are sensational at the moment. "Arsenal are not the team they were. The personnel they have now won't be the same team they had last season. "Arsenal have won four games in a row away from home, but I'm always suspicious of that. I would like to see it tested. That doesn't mean City shouldn't play well at Chelsea." Arsenal v Man City XI Arsenal's record at the Etihad Stadium, where they have won four of the last seven games, is not impressive. They had two
